"We are King."

The Daily Argus-Leader, Sioux Falls, S. D., says: "Lawrence Evart made his first appearance in Sioux Falls as a star Sunday evening. He appeared in Walker Whiteside's romantic comedy drama entitled, "We are King," and certainly made a most favorable impression. Mr. Evart is a larger man than Mr. Whiteride, which makes him better fitted for the part. He is an actor of considerable ability, as was evidenced throughout the performance Sunday evening. His changes from the sublime to the rediculous were exceptionally good pieces of acting. Mr. Evart is a rising young actor and is going rapidly to the front. He is surrounded by an excellent company, each person having seemingly been selected for the particular part for which he or she is cast.

There was a large audience out at the New Theatre, notwithstanding it is the Lenten season. The play was excedingly well staged, particular attention has been paid to the scenery and costumes." At Emporium Opera House, Wednesday evening, Sept. 18.

Serious Accident Averted.

On Saturday about 12:30 o'clock, while F. W. Yenzer was driving up Fourth street, when opposite the Emmanuel Episcopal church the neck yoke came loose at one end and his team started to run, but Fred held them until he came to Shives' store, where he steered them to a telephone pole and they were stopped. No serious damage was done and what might have proved a serious accident was averted.

Eastern Pastor in Local Pulpit.

The pulpit of the Presbyterian church was occupied Sunday morning by Rev. Geo. E. Hill of Beechwood, Pa. The learned preacher based his able sermon upon the words, "Thy words were found, and I did eat them; and thy word was unto me the joy and rejoicing of mine heart." Rev Geo. E. Hill, Presbyterian minister of Beechwood, Pa., is guest of his sister Mrs Andrew Christy Brown.—Forum, North Dakota.

Purchased Restaurant.

H. K. Knight, late proprietor of the Crittenden House here, has purchased the restaurant of William McDonald, of Emporium, and will soon take charge of the same. Mr. Knight has had experience in that line and the people will have a first class eating house. Our citizens welcome this genial couple to Emporium as permanent residents. They have visited here frequently and already made many friends.

T. C. STEPHENS.

T. C. Stephens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Addison Stephens of Coudersport, whose death was mentioned in last week's PRESS, contracted the fever at Ridgway and went home about three weeks ago. The Coudersport Democrat says:

"All his brothers and sisters and parents were at his bed side nearly every minute, as was also Miss Edna Auchu, a prominent, estimable young lady of Emporium, whom he was engaged to marry. The shock has been a terrible one to her as well as every member of his family, with whom he was a great favorite.

Deceased was 28 years of Age. He was born in Hebron, and spent all of his life in Potter county, with the exception of the time he was attending a commercial school in Buffalo and while working as an inspector of roads for the State Highway Department, in which capacity he was serving at the time he contracted the fatal disease.

Tom, as he was familiarly known, was a fine looking promising young man. He was bright, active, honorable and faithful, and in all his dealing with his fellow men he was true to the teachings of his estimable and respected parents, and to them there must be some little solace in the thought that he led an upright life free from any taint or stain. He was an honor to himself and to his parents who gave him birth. Tom was a great social favorite, and there is great sorrow among the many with whom he associated.

Besides his parents he is survived by one brother and four sisters: John, Maud, Helen, Kathleen and Mollie."

LAID TO REST.

Father Sheenan and was appropriate and consoling. The pallbears were R. A. Knox, Guy Crosby, Almon Grabe, of Coudersport, Henry Taylor, of Ridgway, Frank Kelley of Austin and Claude Valentine of Roulette. Select the Best School.

It costs very little more, in either time or money, to attend a really good school than to attend one of inferior grade, and the difference in the outcome is sure to be very great. Young people of fair education, who have ability and ambition, give the Rochester Business Institute the preference, because they are able to discriminate, Getting on the right track is of the utmost importance.

Busy Times.

For the past two weeks there has been something doing every minute in our town to attract the attention of our people. A street fakir, a street carnival, a show every night and a street meeting. With such a variety of attractions one would naturally think anybody could find something suitable to their desire.

The county fair will be the attraction next week. Although the fair has not been very extensively advertised on account of some technicality the clouds have now cleared away and the managemement are as busy as can be in order to make it a success.

Canoe Run Beats Cameron.

The Cameron and Canoe Run base ball teams crossed bats last Saturday and judging from the number of runs scored it was a heated contest. The Canoe Run boys secured the services of Hemphill and Mumford, a battery from Emporium and it is reported that Canoe Run was victorious by the score of 21 to 1, while our correspondent from Cameron gives their team credit with winning the game. Who is right?

Mr. A. W. Cross, who is again presenting Mr. Evart in Walker Whiteside's comedy success "We are King," received many requests during the year for return engagements; this is not only gratifying to Mr. Cross but also to Mr. Evart, as last year being his first tour was not only an artistic, but a financial success. Mr. Evart will present "We are King" at the Emporium Opera House, on Wednesday evening, Sept. 18th.

Mr. Lawrence Evart will appear at the Emporium Opera House, Wednesevening, Sept. 18th, in Mr. Walker Whiteside's satirical comedy, "We are King." Mr. Evart possesses a beautiful voice, an admirable stage presence, which combined with unlimited ability, fits him for the part of Gustavus Venner, the dual role created by Mr. Whiteside. Mr. Evart will be surrounded by a remarkably strong cast, including several members of Mr. Whiteside's original "We are King" production.

What Our Reporter saw in New York

A recent visit to one of the largest paint factories in the world disclosed machinery that was producing 10,000 gallons of Paint, and doing it better and in less time than 100 gallons could be made by hand mixing.

This was the celebrated L. & M. Paint.

The L. & M. Zinc hardens L. & M. White Lead and makes L. & M. Paint wear like iron for 10 or 15 years.

4 gallons L. & M., mixed with 3 gallons Linseed Oil makes 7 gallons of paint at a cost of less than $1.20 per gallon.

If any defect exists in L. & M., Paint, will repaint house for nothing.

Donation of L. & M., made to church.

No Quarrel with Time.

According to the poet we are speeding forever down the ringing grooves of change, and this is nowhere more apparent than in the alterations in the popular taste for the better, everything considered. A writer in the New York Evening Post, in alluding to this matter, says that those who occupy the benches in the public parks on a summer afternoon to listen to the band are no longer satisfied with the "Star Spangled Banner" and a medley from the comic operas, but must have selections from Wagner and Gounod, though he indicates that they may not be averse to a little of Richard Straus thrown in, we suppose, by way of dessert in the musical feast. There is a like fastidiousness in regard to painting, due to the influence of the museum of fine arts and picture exhibitions. Chromos, even when they are copies of celebrated paintings, have lost their vogue, and the fashion for fruit and flower pieces is going out, while "marines," representing heart-rending shipwrecks, have been superseded, it is somewhat satirically observed, by "Waves with cotton wool crests and a splash of moonlight which discloses nothing because it is so suggestive." A change in the taste of literature is also apparent in the demand for short stories in dialect to replace the old-fashioned serial novels. Continued works of fiction in the monthly magazines still have their admirers, though the majority of readers no longer like bloody tales of the frontier type or long drawn out sensational narratives of unhappy brides and ghostly visitants. Instead they prefer a story concerning the fair settlement worker who lives among the poor and perhaps makes a romantic marriage, or accounts of automobile adventures in which the heroine has many lucky escapes from perils of various kinds. In sermons, too, the ministers keep abreast of the times in short discourses, treating the topics of the hour as they bear on moral and religious life, and do not model their sermons after the fathers, who too often had sleepy congregations. What was fine enough in the departed days, that we hear so much praise about, says Boston Budget, is not adapted to the present. With Tennyson, we hold it well good things should pass, and with the changes of time we need not quarrel. They are usually in the direction of progress.

The famous yacht Hildegarde, built for King Edward when he was the prince of Wales in 1874, has been broken up and consigned to the junk pile in Hackensack, N. J. The yacht originally cost $85,000, but recently the vessel was sold for a few thousand dollars to F. R. Long, a bridge builder in Hackensack, who decided to have the vessel broken up. The prince's stateroom Mr. Long had cut out entire. He intends to install that in his residence as a "den." Portions of the timber were sold for a bridge over Cole's brook, Hackensack, while the deck, which is teak, is being cut up for souvenirs in the way of walking sticks, collar boxes and other useful articles. One of these is to be sent to the king of England with a story of the final disposition of his former yacht.

William Warner of Great Barrington, Mass.; Albert G. Herpin of Trenton, N. J., and Joseph Root of Erie, Pa., are to engage in a struggle for the nonsoporific championship of the United States. Warner has not slept a wink, so he says, for the past 30 years; the Trenton man says he has not closed his eyes for the 14 years immediately preceding. Mr. Root has a 25-year record as an anti-Rip Van Winkle.

THE GROCERY CLUB

SAM SAWYER'S REPORT OF AN ECONOMIC DEBATE.

Cornersville, Ark., Is Inclined to Think That in the German Agreement Kaizer Bill Has Successfully Worked a Con Game on Our Teddy.

Our club met in Sy Jones grocery store las' night pursuant to its nat'ral tendencies. A quorum was present—a quorum in our club consistin' of two or more members present who don't agree on anything that may come up. Several members wus absent 'cause they hadn't come up with the "ready come down" fer their las' week's groceries.

Jim Jackson, who used to lead the quire an' hes a good readin' voice, read a loud one of your artickles on the late "German Agreement" entered into by Teddy an' Bill thru thair speakin' tubes, so to speak. The terms you use es, fer instance, the "export price" an' the "consignin' " of goods wus n't exactly clear to us in the beginnin' of the discushin. One of our members, Bob Sanders, thot that the word "consignin' " meant the sign of the con; an' that it indicated that Kaiser "Bill" had worked a con game on Teddy 'cause they both spoke the same language. Howsomever Jim soon fetched the sun up on the matter an' all wus clear es fer as terms went. Jim's library consists of Daniel Webster's unabridged, an' he can bridge over purty near any stream of difficulties with that.

Jim showed that the "export price" allows the feller that sells the goods to fix his own price on 'em; an' that our custom officers, or policemen of trade, must accept that price an' collect toll on 'em accordingly. 'Spose he's right.

But it 'pears that the "German Agreement" allows the feller (it 's darned hard to beat the Dutch) that makes the goods over there to sell 'em to hisself over here at his own price, consignin' 'em to hisself, jes usin' our custom house fer social clubs goin' to an' comin' from. Boiled down over a slow fire of green wood it sums up sorter like this:

By the "German Agreement" the German deals with himself on both sides of the sea; an' arter he gits thru dodgin' duties he ses: "Vel vhat vill you have mit me?" Thus he becomes the whole derned shootin' match—both exporter an' importer. So thar hain't nothin' left fer our importers but to turn porters or jine our club an' whittle an' spit. This tip 's thairn in advance.

I hain't use to spillin' ink 'cept when I turn over the stand; but I hev always noticed that orthografy, grammer, an' retric hain't no use less you hev something to say an' a way of sayin' it. Book larnin' 's apt to lead a feller into thinkin' that he can think. Ten times to a baker's dozen that the feller with the "sheep-skin" can't skin a sheep; nor would he know "taller" from hog grease when it comes to the fryin' out of things.

The majority of our club are Democrats an' hanker arter "Free Trade" 'cause they hain't nothin' to trade an' want something free. They strike an' erudite attitude 'cause the college professors are free traders. They hain't nothin' agin the tariff 'cause it's a robber; fer they hain't nothin' to be robbed of! An' havi'n nothin' to protect they don't care a tinker's d—n about protecshun. They whittle fer a livin' an' care more about shavins than fer a shave. But right here in our club I'll bet thar's more statesmanship goin' to waste than 's bein' vasted in Washington.

The next subject fer discushun is "Free Trade or Tariff—Which?" at which thar 's expected to be some conclushuns an' other things drawn. I'll send you a summery of 'em.

SAM SAWYER, Secretary.

P. S.: Summer's flood-tide 's in. The bloomin' meadows hev splashed the foot-hills with foam. The chestnut trees stand along the hillside at noon lookin' like rolled up clouds colored by a half-faded sunset. The oaks are full of acorns, which means a lean streak of pork this fall. S. S.

Going to Make Matters Better?

The dispatches tell us that 91 head of Iowa steers sold at seven cents a pound, or $95 a head, in Chicago a few days ago. Getting the matter nearer home, the Keosauqua Republican says that John A. Ferguson of Van Buren county recently marketed 17 head of steers in Chicago which brought him $107.80 per head at seven dollars a hundred, while another bunch of 17 brought $6.80 a hundred. William Fritz, another farmer of the same county, recently sold a single wagon load of wool for $728.08. There was a time about 15 years ago when cattle and wool were doing pretty nearly as good as that. Along came a lot of fellows who were going to give the country something better if they could only get "a change." Enough of the people were fooled by their talk to bring about the change. The cattle fell to three dollars and four dollars a hundred, wool from 25 cents a pound to ten, and sheep from three dollars and four dollars a head to one dollar. And it took a long time to get prices back to those of the good old time. Now there is another lot of fellows, in these days of good prices for the farmer and general prosperity, telling how they are going to make matters better if they can cut down the tariff and give away home markets to the foreigner. How many of the people are going to be fooled this time?—Fairfield (Iowa) Ledger.

MAY BE MOVING TOO FAST.

Governor Cummins Seems to Be in a Hurry to Count Chickens.

Have the Iowa Republicans already elected their delegates-at-large to the National Convention of 1908? Is A. B. Cummins among the number elected? It would seem so, for Governor Cummins has lately announced his intention to see to it personally that a pledge of immediate tariff revision is incorporated in the platform. We had not heard that a state convention had been held in Iowa and that Mr. Cummins had been chosen one of the delegates for next year. Is not the governor then counting his chickens before they are hatched? May not the Republicans of Iowa decide not to thus honor a man whose mania for tariff ripping and for political mischief in general has been so fruitful of dissension and trouble? There was some question in 1904 as to including Cummins among the delegates-at-large, but "in the interest of harmony" the objectors acquiesced. How far harmony was thereby promoted was shown last year in the vindictive attitude of the Cummins faction and in the heavy falling off in the Republican vote of that year. It proved to be a harmony that did not harmonize. Possibly the time has arrived for different tactics. In that event Cummins may not be in a position to personally direct the action of the Republican national convention on the question of tariff revision.

Printers Are Interested.

Some apprehension is expressed regarding the effect of the German agreement upon the printing and publishing business. The Engraver and Electrotyper of August 1 raises the question whether the "export price" provision may not be so manipulated as to allow the Germans to do a great deal more in the way of composition and plate casting for the American market than they have ever before done. A large amount of English typesetting is done in Germany already, and the 25 per cent. duty has not kept out the competition of plates cast from type set at about one-third the wages paid to American compositors. Now that German chambers of commerce are to fix values for export, will not the German printers, electrotypers and engravers, producing articles for export only, be able to get in under a low valuation and thus take the bread out of the mouths of American workmen? This might be worth looking into by the International Typographical union and by the organizations of stereotypers and electrotypers. Some years ago it was found that plates ready for the press were coming in as "scrap metal" and paying less than one-tenth the duty prescribed for imported printing plates. "Big Six" took up the matter and stopped the fraud. The German agreement also will bear investigation.

THE RIGHT THING TO DO.

Reciprocal Tariff Reformer: "Germany threatens to shut out our exports with her high maximum tariff. To avert that disaster we must make tariff concessions that will satisfy Germany."

Thomas Jefferson: "We must do nothing of the sort. Let me repeat what I wrote on that subject in 1793: 'Where a nation imposes high duties on our productions or prohibits them altogether, it may be proper for us to do the same by theirs; first burdening those productions which they bring here in competition with our own of the same kind; selecting next such manufactures as we take from them in greatest quantity and which at the same time we could the soonest furnish to ourselves or obtain from other countries; imposing on them duties lighter at first, but heavier and heavier afterward, as other channels of supply open. Such duties having the effect of indirect encouragement to domestic manufactures of the same kind, may induce the manufacturer to come himself into the states, where a cheaper subsistence, equal laws and a vent for his wares, free of duty, may insure him the highest profits from his skill and industry. . . . .

Can Cut Our Duties in Two.

If all the German exporters can arrange to do their own valuing at our custom houses they cannot only secure a reduction in duty amounting to 20 per cent., but they can cut our ad valorem duties in two by merely cutting in two the actual value of their goods. Not only can the German exporters do this, but all European exporters can do it, for, of course, it is our purpose to apply the new customs regulation to imports from all favored nations. If this is the situation which actually confronts our customs department it is quite in order to suggest that congress shall take some action to prevent such wholesale nullification of the tariff rules enumerated in the Dingley law.—Sioux City Journal.

TWELVE ARE KILLED IN WRECK

ROCK ISLAND PASSENGER TRAIN JUMPED THE TRACK.

Baggage and Mail Cars Were Telescoped and the Smoking Car was Demolished—The Injured are 12 in Number.

Waterloo, Iowa. — Twelve persons were killed and 12 others injured in the wreck of an express train on the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroad at Norris, Ia., Friday. The express train, northbound, jumped the track while going at full speed and crashed into a freight train standing on the siding. The dead:

P. B. Oliver, Waterloo, Ia.
Will Goodman, Waterloo.
John N. Watson, Waterloo.
C. L. Landphere, Shellrock, Ia.
W. Ray Johnson, Dike, Ia.
B. P. Christy, Minneapolis.
Lepovan Toja, Hammond, Ind.
W. H. Myers, baggageman.
Four unidentified men.

The injured will all probably recover.

The injured were brought to Waterloo hospital.

All of the dead and injured were in the smoking car, which was immediately behind the baggage and mail car. The smoking car was demolished.

The northbound express was ten minutes late at Norris, where the freight train was waiting. The express came along at terrific speed in an effort to make up time. Just as the locomotive of the passenger train was about to pass the freight locomotive the trucks of the former left the track and the moving engine crashed into the engine of the freight, wrecking both locomotives and telescoping the baggage and mail cars and demolishing the smoking car.

The passengers in the two day coaches following the smoking car escaped with a violent shaking up.

CAVALRYMEN ARE VICTORS.

They Win the Dryden Trophy on the Rifle Range at Sea Girt, N. J.

Sea Girt, N. J.—The $5,000 Dryden trophy and $150 cash, the most coveted prize offered at the New Jersey Rifle association tournament was won Friday in an exciting finish by the United States cavalry team, which scored 1,001 points. The next highest score was made by the Massachusetts team with 977. The second prize is $100. The Maryland marksmen surprised the field by taking third place with 976 points, defeating New Jersey by five points. The third prize is $50. The Jerseymen's 971 is tied by the army infantrymen, but the regulars did not shoot so well by three points on the 1,000-yard targets and so had to take fifth place. The marine corps was sixth with 954 and the District of Columbia team seventh with 935.

The prize was first given in 1903 by Senator John F. Dryden, of New Jersey, for teams of eight which should make the best score in the shots at 200, 600 and 1,000 yards with United States service rifles and with any machine-loaded ammunition of American manufacture. Members of a winning team any year are barred from participating the next year. Seven teams competed for the trophy this year.

In the thousand yards competition Massachusetts and Maryland contested for second place and the $100 cash prize. When Sergeant C. J. Jeffers, of the Bay State team, came up for his last shot he had to hit the target or have his team third. He made a bullseye.

The Massachusetts team had the misfortune Friday to lose one of its most experienced shots, Private J. E. Burns. He was called to Lowell by the accidental shooting of his brother. Massachusetts had no substitute and was about to withdraw from the match when Col. John Caswell, Massachusetts state inspector of small arms practice, chanced to come to the range. He was at once put in the breach.

Sergeant M. L. Brown, New Jersey, Second troop, won the offhand match, at 200 yards, by a score of 48. J. A. Dietz, of New York, was second, with 46 and Private Marey, marine corps, third with 37.

BUSINESS BULLETIN.

The Volume of Trade Is Satisfactory and in Many Sections Exceeds that of Last Year.

New York.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

Aside from some conservatism in preparing for remote requirements, directly due to stringency in the money market, the volume of business is satisfactory. Trade exceeds even the activity of last year in many sections, and as the crops are secured there is a demand for goods at leading jobbing markets that makes the outlook bright for fall. Wholesale dry goods sales are nearly concluded at the south and merchants are now hurrying shipments forward to meet the autumn retail demand that is about to open.

Prices of farm staples have risen to an unusual position for this season, but this is caused by large foreign needs rather than any reductions in domestic yield and the increased amount of money paid to the farmers will benefit all departments of trade and industry. The week's results are somewhat irregular because of the holiday and interruption to telegraphic communication, but complete reports for August indicate that the month compared most favorably with 1906 in almost every department except the market for securities.

Arabs Plan Another Attack.

Casablanca. — Although the Arabs suffered severely in the engagegement of Tuesday, one tribe losing 50 men killed out of 2,500 engaged, they are in nowise discouraged and are planning for a fresh attack on the French.

Bank Robbers Secured $8,000.

Frankfort, S. D. — The James River bank, of Frankfort, was dynamited early Friday and looted of $8,000. Seven charges of dynamite were used in blowing open the vault and the safe. The robbers stole a hand car and escaped.

A Rare Meteorite.

Prince Edward of Wales, who is a collector of minerals and meteorites, has received a piece of the meteorite which fell in the Dacca district of Bengal in October, 1903. The specimen should be one of the rarest in his collection, only four museums in the world having received a piece.

Woman's Need of Rest.

Every woman should have at least a short time in the day in which she rests, and it should be a regular time. She should close her eyes, withdraw her thoughts from everything and really rest. Fifteen or twenty minutes of such absolute rest every day counts for a great deal.

Fame and Human Happiness.

Whatever may be temporary applause of men, or the expressions of public opinion, it may be asserted without fear of contradiction that no true and permanent fame can be founded, except in labors which promise the happiness of mankind.—Charles Sumner.

Art as a Malaria Antidote.

Give the girl art student a dank, undrained bit of swamp with positively green verdure growing in artistic clusters, says Woman, and she will not complain of the mosquitoes which it breeds or the malaria which the doctor's wife is sure to find visibly present in it.

Vast Extent of the Earth.

Some idea of the vast extent of the surface of the earth may be obtained when it is noted that if a lofty church steeple be ascended, and the landscape visible from it looked at, 900,000 such landscapes must be viewed in order that the whole earth may be seen.

Mother-in-Law Joke 1900 Years Old.

Mothers-in-law were no better in Juvenal's time (the first century of the Christian era) than they are today, and to this date belongs the immortal story of the man who threw a stone at a dog, and, hitting his mother-in-law, said: "Not so bad."

Comfort of Air Castles.

I find the gayest castles in the air that were ever piled, far better for comfort and for use than the dungeons in the air that are daily dug and caverned out by grumbling, discontented people.—Emerson.

A Treat, Indeed.

One little girl had been to a party on two consecutive days. "Oh, mamma," she cried, enthusiastically, on her second return from the second, "just think, I've had ice cream twice in congestion!"

As She Recalled It.

"Yes," said Mrs. Lapsling; "my husband enjoyed his trip ever so much. He says the train he traveled on had the finest buffoon car he ever saw in his life."

THE SCHOOLHOUSES

WHAT THEY MEAN TO THE PEOPLE OF THE COMMUNITY.

AND HOW THEY ARE BUILT

It Is the Money That Stays at Home Which Makes Good Ones Possible —A Simple System That Works.

Your schoolhouses. Those of the town and those of the country districts. You know what they mean to you and to your children.

They represent the difference between ignorance and enlightenment. They mean to your children the difference between signing their names with a mark or in writing. They represent the difference between the civilization of the twentieth century, as this country knows it, and the barbarism of benighted Asia or Africa.

You want the schoolhouse, do you not?

You would willingly make sacrifices to keep it, would you not?

You glory in the free educational system of this country, do you not?

But, Mr. Citizen, did you ever sit down and consider carefully what it is that makes possible the schoolhouses of this country; the schoolhouses that stand as beacon lights on the tops of a thousand hills; the schoolhouses that carry cheer and enlightenment to the hearthstones of the homes of a thousand valleys?

It is the taxes that you ,and your neighbor, and your neighbor's neighbor pay into the school fund year after year, is it not?

And why do you pay it?

Because you own property—real estate, bonds and mortgages—and because that property is valuable.

What makes your real estate valuable?

It is the prosperity of the community. As the community grows and prospers the value of your property increases. As your property increases in value and you write your wealth in thousands instead of hundreds, the amount you pay into the school fund increases. When the school fund increases the old building gives place to a new and more modern structure, in which your children and your neighbor's children secure their instruction. And, again, the erection of the new building but adds more to the value of your property.

It is an endless chain system that builds villages out of cross roads, and cities out of villages.

Who are you, Mr. Citizen, and who is your neighbor and your neighbor's neighbor, whose contributions to the school fund make the schoolhouses possible? You, and your neighbor, and your neighbor's neighbor, are the farmers, the merchants, the doctors, the blacksmiths. You are each and every man who go to make up the community in which you live, and it is only when you work collectively that you accomplish results—that you build up new schoolhouses.

And how shall you work collectively?

By a simple system of boosting one another. You, we will say, have oats to sell—your neighbor buys them of you. He, you will say, has dry goods to sell—you buy them of him. It is this system of mutual help that makes the town grow into the city, that increases the price of real estate in the town and in the community surrounding it, that builds new schoolhouses.

The dollar that is unnecessarily sent away from home never bought so much as a nail for a schoolhouse, never put a shingle on its roof.

But the dollars that are unnecessarily sent away from home send back to the community which they left only ruin. It is these dollars that prevent the replacing of the leaking roof, the broken door hinge or the worn out desk.

It is the dollars that are unnecessarily sent away from home by you, and your neighbor, and your neighbor's neighbor that decrease the value of your, and your neighbor's, and your neighbor's neighbor's real estate. That makes the school fund grow less year after year. That forces the discharge of the competent teacher for a less competent one. That reduces the standing of your schools in the educational system of the country.

Work it backwards, send your money for the things you need away from home instead of spending it at home, and the system that builds villages out of cross roads, and cities out of villages, that increases the value of your real estate and permits you to write your wealth in four figures where previously three figures were enough, and you will make of the thriving little city but a village, and of the village but a cross roads.

Do you not believe, Mr. Citizen, and do you think your neighbor and your neighbor's neighbor should believe, that it pays best to keep the dollars in the home community? Keep the system moving forwards, help to make a city of your village. Boost your town's interests and you boost your own.

WRIGHT A. PATTERSON.

Buttermilk Cocktail.

Throat parched? Irrigate it with a buttermilk cocktail.

This is a new brand of dampness which was devised at the University of Chicago. The buttermilk cocktail is constructed according to the following recipe: Take a tall, thin glass, drop in a chunk of ice; insert a long slice of cucumber, then fill with buttermilk. That's all!

GAMES OF SHARPERS.

Some of the Methods Used for Securing Money Dishonestly.

Millions upon millions of dollars are fraudulently taken from the pockets of the people year after year through the operation of confidence men. The schemes used by these men are numerous. Nearly all are based upon the fact that the average person is always willing to take the best of a bargain.

During the past few months swindlers have been operating in different parts of the country, and their method, while a modification of an old swindling game, has some new features worthy of notice. Their usual procedure is to locate farmers who are not well known to local bankers and loan men. They approach the farmer and under pretext of seeking to purchase farming land, manage in some way to secure his signature. This is generally done by inducing him to write a letter, or to sign some statement. Once the signature is secured, a fictitious deed to the farmer's land is prepared and this is fixed up in such a manner as to show the seal of some notary or other officer. Then with this deed the swindler is in position to negotiate a loan upon the land. This game has been successfully worked in a number of western states.

Residents of agricultural districts should be continually on their guard against the signing of receipts or any kind of contract which may be presented to them by strangers. Within the past year some smooth swindlers have succeeded in securing thousands of dollars on fraudulent notes, securing from farmers, who were foolish enough to take for trial washing machines, refrigerators, etc., and to give their receipts for the same. These receipts turning up later as negotiable notes.

The writer of checks cannot be too careful in filling in the amounts. The favorite methods of the check receiver is to insert after the words "six," "seven," "eight" or "nine" the letter "y" or "ty" and change the ciphers in the check accordingly. Thus it can be seen that a check written for eight dollars, by the addition of the letter "y" can be made to read for eighty dollars and the changing of the amount, if it be in numerals, by the addition of cipher, makes the forgery, when well executed, hard to discover.

HELP THE TOWN.

Some of the Virtues in Friendly Rivalry Between Merchants.

Good, healthy competition and friendly rivalry, devoid of all spirit of hoggishness, is a good thing for any town. Each and every business man and property owner in a town, and the country immediately surrounding it should be intensely interested in every project, particularly should every merchant be active in matters that means general prosperity for the place, and which will increase trade for all the merchants of the town. People generally like to do their trading in towns where there are well kept stocks and plenty variety of goods, and where there is sufficient competition as to assure low prices consistent with good business judgment. There is little use for the merchants of a place to blow and brag about their business, unless they can demonstrate that they are "delivering the goods" and satisfying their customers. There is no good to be looked for by merchants decrying the goods and the methods of their brother merchants. There is no more effective way of killing the business of a town than by fostering a spirit of petty jealousy and of narrow selfishness. Wherever such a spirit is found it will be discovered that trade is being turned to some other town where merchants and business men work more in harmony with one another.

TOWN BOOSTING TIPS.

The visitor who trips over your broken sidewalk will not have a very high opinion of your town as a place of business.

The home town is the best place for the boys if you will make the home town prosperous. Keeping the money at home will do this. It means home opportunities for your children.

Don't drive around the hole in the road week after week. Get your neighbors together and fix it.

The home market for the farm products is the saving clause in our system of government. Take away the in your community. Not necessarily home markets and the farms will soon become unprofitable and valueless.

No city mail-order house will extend credit to you when times are hard, or crops fail. Could you consistently ask it of your home merchant when you send your money to the city during the days of prosperity?

Encourage small factories to locate by means of a bonus, but by keeping the children in the home town that they may become factory employes, and get a home opportunity to raise in the world.

Do not begrudge the money paid for taxes when it is used for road and town improvements. Such an expenditure is like bread cast upon the waters—it will return many fold.

MOB DROVE HINDUS OUT OF A TOWN

BELLINGHAM, WASH., IS THE SCENE OF RACE TROUBLE.

POLICE WERE POWERLESS.

Asiatic Laborers Who Were Not Driven Out of Town Were Jailed, While a Few Were Badly Beaten.

Bellingham, Wash. — Six badly beaten Hindus are in the hospital, 400 frightened and half naked Sikhs are in jail and the corridors of the city hall are guarded by policemen. Somewhere between Bellingham and British Columbia there are 750 natives of India, beaten, hungry and half clothed, making their way along the Great Northern railroad into Canadian territory and the protection of the British flag.

The long expected cry "Drive out the Hindus" was heard throughout the city and along the water front Wednesday night. The police were helpless. All authority was paralyzed and for five hours a mob of half a thousand white men raided the mills where the foreigners were working, battered down doors of lodging houses, and, dragging the Asiatics from their beds, escorted them to the city limits with orders to keep going.

The trouble started at C and Holly streets, a lodging house district. The houses were cleared and the mob then swept down to the water front and mill after mill was visited, the white employes joining the mob. Every Hindu was hustled outside.

Here the police suggested that the mob victims be taken to jail. This was hailed with delight and the Hindus were hustled along. From this time on they were not beaten, the bloodthirstiness of the mob seemingly being satisfied during the attack on the lodging houses. The mob kept up its work along the water front until early Thursday morning, when Larson's mill at Whatcom Lake was visited and a hundred Hindus brought in from there.

Four women were found among the crowd in the city building. The city is quiet now, but there is a strong undercurrent of opinion which apparently approves the action of the mob and it may be found impossible to prosecute the leaders. Racial feeling has played no small part in the affair. Every day whites are being replaced in the mills by the Asiatics. Many instances of women being pushed into the gutter or insulted on street cars by the foreigners were also reported. General uneasiness of the whites is given as a reason for the outbreak.

IN MEMORY OF M'KINLEY.

A Monument to the Late President Is Dedicated at Buffalo, N. Y.

Buffalo, N. Y. — In a heavy downpour of rain and before a vast multitude, the McKinley monument on Niagara square was dedicated Thursday afternoon and formally turned over to the state of New York through Gov. Hughes. The ceremonies were brief, but impressive. Assembled on the stand near the monument with Gov. Hughes were men prominent in the state and nation, and also from Canada.

Another large body, consisting of Grand Army veterans, formed in a circle in front of the speakers' stand and on the steps of the monument.

Gov. Hughes, the members of the monument commission, their honorary guests and the speakers of the day were escorted to Niagara square by soldiers from the national guard, the regular army, the Canadian troopers and veterans of the G. A. R. and the Spanish war.

The sky out over Lake Erie had become overcast with clouds and with the first sounds of the approaching soldiery came a patter of rain. The skies grew darker and just as Gov. Hughes stepped upon the platform there came a roll of thunder, a booming salute from the heavens. The rain increased and the immense flag which enveloped the obelisk in its folds was rent in twain by the wind. The stay ropes broke from their fastenings and the two ends of the flag fluttered out over the crowd.

Following a prayer by Rev. E. H. Dickinson, Edward H. Butler, chairman of the monument commission, introduced Mayor Adam, who said in part:

"Buffalo was bowed down in grief at the death of William McKinley. To-day she lifts her head and pays tribute to his memory. No marble column can make his memory dearer to us. He was our president, our neighbor, our friend."

Mayor Adam was followed by Harlan J. Swift, state commander of the G. A. R., who delivered an eloquent tribute to McKinley, the soldier; Gen. Miller, past commander of the Spanish-American war veterans, who spoke of President McKinley's part in the Spanish-American war, and Mrs. Donald MacLean, president of the Daughters of the Revolution, who spoke of the martyr president's qualities as a lover, a husband and father.

At the conclusion of Mrs. MacLean's address, Mrs. Truman C. Avery pulled the cord which released the flag, revealing the white sides of the shaft. Gov. Hughes then delivered the dedicatory address.

Brokers Failed.

New York City.—The failure of Watson & Co., members of the New York stock and produce exchanges and of the Chicago board of trade, was announced Thursday. No cause was assigned for the failure nor was any estimate of the liabilities and assets made public. The firm had extensive connections in the west, maintaining offices in large cities.

Thirteen Lives Lost in a Hotel Fire.

Tacoma, Wash. — Fire destroyed the Webb hotel at Shelton, 20 miles from Tacoma, Wednesday night. It is reported 13 persons perished.

A BATTLE NEAR CASABLANCA

SIX THOUSAND MOORS ATTACKED FRENCH CAMP.

A Fierce Charge was Met by a Storm of Shot and Shell and the Attacking Party Lost Hundreds of Men.

Casablanca. — About 6,000 Moors participated in Monday's fight. The Moors, who were repulsed on all sides, made a most impressive picture as, mounted on white horses and carrying their banners in the front line, they swept down from the hills in splendid formation and charged to within about 400 yards of the French camp, which for a moment seemed to be in danger of being overriden. As they advanced, the Moors chanted in unison verses from the Koran.

The irregular Algerian cavalry encountered the first shock of the Moors' assault, without yielding a foot from the position they occupied. Gen. Drude quickly deployed his forces to the greatest advantage and the Moors were submitted to a fire of shot and shell which soon left the ground strewn with corpses.

Maj. Prevost was slain while returning to camp after the engagement, which lasted seven hours.

Maj. Prevost conducted a scouting expedition, which was the actual cause of the battle, the object being to locate the enemy and prepare the way for an extensive offensive movement later. The major advanced about eight miles in a southerly direction, meeting only with scattered bands of Moors, which were easily dispersed. He then gave the order to return and it was when nearing the camp that his force was assailed by hordes of Moors. Prevost formed his men in hollow squares, with the irregular Algerian cavalry in front. Gen. Drude quickly reinforced Prevost and the engagement immediately developed into a desperate conflict, from which the Moors retreated only after their ranks had been decimated by a deadly fire which it was impossible to withstand.

RECEIVER FOR STEEL COMPANY.

The Concern Is One Managed by E. L. Harper, of Bank Wrecking Notoriety.

Bristol, Va.—Judge Skeen, of the United States court here on Wednesday appointed Col. L. O. Pettit, of Big Stone Gap, receiver of the Union Iron and Steel Corporation, of New York, owning furnaces in Virginia, Ohio, Michigan and New Jersey.

The receiver was appointed on petition of the Norton Coal Co., of Norton, Va., and no statement of assets and liabilities is obtainable at this time, owing to the fact that efforts are being made to adjust the claim. For this reason other creditors have not joined in the petition.

The Union Iron and Steel Corporation is an offshoot of the Union Steel and Chain Corporation—the latter a $60,000,000 concern organized several years ago by Edward L. Harper, formerly of Cincinnati.

It is reported that the receivership is a plan of the creditors of E. L. Harper to uncover his assets. Obligations aggregating several million dollars are held by Cincinnati and Chicago bankers against Harper, as a result of the failure of the Fidelity bank, of Cincinnati, about 20 years ago.

Harper, it was alleged, wrecked this institution in an attempt to corner the wheat market. For this he was sentenced to eight years in the Ohio penitentiary and shortly after his release he merged a number of furnaces and steel plants into the Union Steel and Chain Co., of which he has since been president and of which the Union Iron and Steel Co. is subsidiary.

About 18 months ago Harper filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the United States court here, but his right to release from the old obligations was successfully contested by his creditors, headed by the banking firm of Erwin Green & Co., of Chicago. In the hearing before the referee he contended that he was insolvent, though he failed to establish his insolvency and was not discharged. The hearing disclosed the fact that he was receiving a large salary as president of the steel and iron corporations.

POLITICIANS ARE INDICTED.

Prominent Citizens of Allegheny are Accused of Election Frauds.

Pittsburg, Pa. — A political sensation was caused here Wednesday when it became known that the grand jury had indicted four prominent politicians of Allegheny City in connection with alleged tax receipt frauds in that city.

The men indicted are Elliott Rodgers, member of the state senate, and former common pleas judge of the Allegheny courts; Samuel Grenet, director of the department of safety, of Allegheny; William Hogel, member of Allegheny council; William B. Lamb, a leading Allegheny politician.

There are separate indictments against each on the charge of misdemeanor, and a fifth indictment charges them jointly with conspiracy to aid and abet a misdemeanor. In the indictments are allegations of conspiracy to procure false registration and fraudulent voting; the procuring of false registration and fraudulent voting, and conspiracy to issue fraudulent tax receipts.

The charges, it is said, are based upon the November election of 1906, and are the outgrowth of a crusade waged by the Voters' Civic league, of Allegheny.

All of the accused went to the court house and gave bail in the sum of $2,000 each.

BYRON D. HAMLIN PASSED AWAY LAST WEDNESDAY.

He Was One of McKean County's Most Prominent Citizens.

HAD BEEN ILL OVER TWO YEARS.

However His Death Will be a Surprise to Many Friends—Sketch of His Long and Useful Career—Funeral Arrangements.

Smethport Miner, Sept. 5, 1907.

Hon. Bryon Delano Hamlin died at his home on Main street in this borough at 11:30 o'clock, Wednesnay, September 4, 1907, aged 83 years and four months, the cause of his death being heart trouble and a general wearing out of the body. On February 24, 1905, he was compelled to take to his bed, where he remained until the final call came.

From the History of McKean, Elk, Cameron and Potter counties we copy the following in regard to his early life:

"BYRON D. HAMLIN—When the average young man of the present day is disposed to grumble at the fate that compels him to earn his living, and to complain of his luck, it may be profitable to him to study the lives of the older men who are enjoying wealth and honorable position. He will discover almost without exception their earlier days were fraught with struggling toil, and that their success is the result of earnest and persevering application of the hand and brain, and the prompt improvement of every opportunity offered The gentleman whose name heads this sketch holds a most anviable position socially and financially. In the declining years of his life, he is surrounded with all the comforts of a competence and the assurance of the respect and honor of his fellows, and the love of a large circle of friends and family connections. This is not the result of chance, but the reward of toil and persevering endeavor. Equal success is in the power of any young man. Hon. Bryon D. Hamlin, the senier resident member of the McKean county bar, was born on May 6, 1824, at Shehquin, Bradford county, Pa., the youngest of seven children. His father, Dr. Asa Hamlin, was of English descent, while his mother, whose maiden name was Delano, came of French ancestry. His parents and ancestors had resided for many generations in Litchfield county, Conn., his father removing to Pennsylvania in 1816. Dr. Asa Hamlin, who was one of a family of twenty-one children, was bred on a farm, and brought under the old puritanical regime as practiced by the New England Presbyterians. Amusements were rare, and Sunday was a day to be dreaded. He had scanty opportunities for education or culture in his youth, yet he improved them so well that he secured a profession in which he held a respectable rank. In those days, however, doctor's fees were small and hard to get. In June, 1833, he removed to Smethport with his wife and two younger children—the subject of this sketch and his sister, Jeanette—and did in 1835, leaving his family without financial means for their support. In this condition of things young Byron, then but a slight lad of eleven years, set about to find some self-supporting employment. The first that offered was an opportunity to peel and gather bark from old hemlock trees that had fallen. This he sold for fuel at $1 per cord, payable in store trade. In this occupation he succeeded in maintaining and clothing himself for some time, and even had sufficient surplus to purchase a handsome cream pitcher as a present to his mother. It cost 5 shillings and 6 pence, and is still preserved and highly prized as a relic of the struggles of his youth. After a time he was offered a position of mail carrier between Smethport and Olean, N. Y., then the principal communication with the outside world, and he accepted it gratefully. He had to make two round trips a week, going to Olean and returning Sunday, making a ride of fifty-six miles, and going Wednesday and returning on Thursday. The salary was 75 cents a trip, or $1.50 a week. The Sunday trip commenced a 4 a. m., and was generally concluded between 8 and 11 p. m., in all kinds of weather, and at all seasons of the year. Young Byron began this occupation when thirteen years old, and continued it two years, during which time the mail rarely failed to be on time. His mode of conveyance was on the back of a mule, and Mr. Hamlin enjoys nothing better than to relate the comical, though often unpleasant, experiences of those days. By the improve of odd hours with his books at the fireside, and an occasional few weeks at school, he gained sufficient education to undertake teaching school at the age of sixteen on Marvin creek, about four miles from home, at $10 a month and 'board around'. The term lasted three months and from the proceeds he was able to purchase a suit of clothes and a few books.

"His sister, Jeanette, having married Rev. Moses Crow, a professor in Allegheny College, at Meadville, Pa., he accepted an invitation to make his home with them, and enter the college. After about a year and a half, his brother-in-law's health failing, so that he was obliged to resign his professorship, young Byron, having no means to pay his expenses and continue his studies, returned to Smethport. He then accepted an offer of partnership in a little store owned by his brother, Orie J. Hamlin, the whole stock of which would not inventory over $500. After about a year thus engaged, his brother-in-law, who had in the meantime united with the conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, and then stationed at Geneva, N. Y., again invited him to live with him, and attend the college at that beautiful town. The long hoped for opportunity to complete a college course seemed to have arrived, and he hastily closed his interest in the store and prepared to accept the offer. His profit in the year's business comprised a respectable wardrobe, and about $100 in bills receivable. He had in preparation for his trip a wooden trunk made by a carpenter and joiner (which is still preserved in the attic of his residence), in which all of his worldly wealth was stowed, when a few days before starting he received a letter stating that both Mr. and Mrs. Crow were lying at the point of death, from typhoid fever. He went there at once, on horse-back, but found that his sister was dead and burried, and his brother-in-law almost at the point of death, so he was obliged to return to Smethport with his hopes disappointed, and his spirits crushed. By the advice of his brother, Orie Jr., who was then practing law in Smethport, he gave up the idea of completing a collegiate education, and entered his office as a student and clerk. This was in 1843, and in 1845 he was admitted to the bar of McKean county. His brother had the care of a number of landed estates, for various owners, and the attention to the details of this part of the business falling largely upon the young student he early acquired a taste for it, and having given the subject his principal attention during his long professional career, he is an accepted authority up on legal as well as practical business questions relating to lands of Keating and Co., then comprising nearly two hundred thousand acres of the two hundred and ninety-seven hundred they had purchased from William Bingham, in the year 1796, in McKean, Potter, Cameron, Clinton and Clearfield counties. He had their care and management to the year 1884, when he became the purchaser of what remained of this estate, and interested some of his family relatives with himself in its ownership—the business being conducted in the names of Byron D. Hamlin, Henry Hamlin and John Forrest.

"In politics Mr. Hamlin is a Democrat. When a young man he was active and prominent as a local leader, and his party, then largely in the majority in the country and district, recognized his abilities and usefulness. In 1846, at the age of twenty-four, he was recommended by his county as a caadidate for the legislature, but declined at the district convention in favor of W. G. Scofield, of Warren county, who was elected; in 1850 he was elected treasurer of McKean county; in 1852 he was sent to the State senate, in which body, although one of the youngest members, he took a leading and prominent position, and was elected as its presiding officer at the close of the session of 1854. He was renominated by the convention of his district at the close of his term, in 1856, but was defeated by Henry Souther of Elk county, the candidate of the American and Free-Soil parties. Having a good clientage and extensive land estates under his care, he considered it his duty to those interests, and to his family, to withdraw from active political life to more congenial and profitable pursuits. He was tendered the nomination (which in that district, was equivalent to an election) for president judge of the counties of Clearfield, Clinton and Centre, in 1868, but delined it. Since that time he has been urged by the people of his own district, without regard to party, to stand as a candidate for judicial honors in it, but adhered to his often expressed determination to spend his life in domestic pursuits, without the slavery of public office. In 1682, he was induced after repeated solicitations, to allow his name to be presented as the candidate of his party to the legislature. Although the county was Republican by a considerable majority, and he was opposed by the strongest candidate who could at that time have been nominated against him, he was defeated by less than a score of votes. In the dark period of the Nation's history (1861-65) Mr. Hamlin stood on the ground that the only way to correct the fallacies of those who sought to break the bond of union of the States was the physical one; all arguments appealing to the patriotism and reasoning faculties having failed. He was examined, and pronounced physically unfit for service in the field but, immediateiy following the news of the first shot on Sumter, he applied himself to the work of encouraging and aiding the valorous young men of his region to enlist, for the defense of their country and their homes. He rendered efficient aid to Gen. Thomas L. Kane, to whom he was much devoted, in selecting the valiant fellows who formed the famous Bucktail Regiment, and no compliment ever bestowed on him afforded him and his family more gratification than his election as an honary comrade in that regiment, at the re-union of its survivors in 1888."

About twenty years ago Mr. Hamlin, retired from the practice of law to devote his entire attention to his private interests, which had grown to large proportions, and to his home life. He was a great lover of his home and his family and was happiest when he had his children, grand-children and great-grand-children around him.

In 1846 he was united in marriage to Miss Harriet, daughter of John Holmes of Smethport, who by her faithful devotion, constant sympathy and good counsel, contributed largely to his success. They were blessed with three children, one son and two daughters. The son, Delano R., died May 30, 1884, leaving a wife and two children, Paul D., and Jeanette, now Mrs. W. L. Hammer. The eldest daughter, Jeanette, died January 30, 1896, leaving three children, Mrs. Melville M. Gillette, of Newark, Ohio, Horace H. Redfield and Scott F. Redfield. The youngest daughter, Mary, was married to John Forrest, his partner in the law and land business, and to them were born two children, now Mrs. Arthur W. Mitchell, of Erie, and Mrs. Edmund T. Newman, of Syracuse, N. Y., together with Mr. Hamlin's aged wife and four great-grand-children, namely Hamlin D., and Robert H. Redfield, Redfield B. Gillette and John F. Mitchell.

Hon. Byron Delano Aamlin will be remembered by the generations which have known him with true affection and deepest respect. His life was an example of persevering, painstaking labor, of wise forethought of energy and thoroughness. His character showed integrity and sincerity. He impressed one with his frank bearing, and straight forward ways and there was a sitmulate in the sound of his cherry voice, his pleasant ready humor and sympathetic attitude. He was recognized widely as one whose matured mind, large experience, wide reading and sound judgment made his advice on legal and business questions of good value. He had the judicial cast of mind, and would have honored the bench as highly as he did the bar, being qualified largely for such a position and vocation. He was the centre of the home life in a large family of children and grand-children, and was looked up to, reverenced and loved by all of them. He was as a father to all these, his decendants and relatives, their interests and happiness and troubles were his. The sorrows which touched their lives and his showed the tenderness and sympathy of his heart.

He was a diligent student of the Bible always deeply interested in religious matters, and a christian believer who, later, came to see the place of divine institutions, and welcomed the church with its sacraments and services and was happy and comforted in the provisions for the spiritual life in the Kingdom of Christ. He departed this life on Wednesday last at noon, in the peace of God, in perfect charity with the world, in the confidence of a certain faith, and the comfort of a reasonable religious holy hope.

"May he rest in peace, and may light perpetual shine upon him."

The funeral services will be held at St. Luke's chureh at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, Rev. J. H. McCandless officiating, and his remains will be laid at rest in the family mausoleum in Rose Hill cemetery.

Potter, on Oak Hill and enjoy the outing very much.

The way to get rid of a cold, whether it be a "bad cold" or just a little one, is to get it out of your system through the bowels. Nearly all Cough Cures, especially those that contain opiates, are constipating. Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup contains no opiates and acts gently on the bowels. Pleasant to take. Sold by R. C. Dodson.

Occasional headache, belching, bad taste in the mouth, lack of appetite and slight nervousness are symptoms of indigestion which, when allowed to go uncared for, will develop into a case of dyspepsia that will take a long time to get rid of. Don't neglect your stomach. At the first indication of trouble take something that will help it along in its work of digesting the food you eat. Kodol for Indigestion and Dyspepsia will do this. Kodol will make your food do you good and will enable you to enjoy when you eat. Sold by R. C. Dodson.

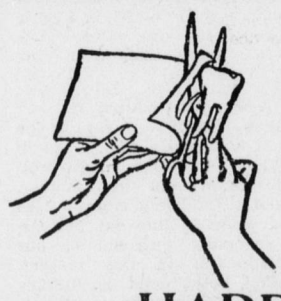
OUR NEW LINE OF
Wall Paper for 1907.

Consists of the best things from three factories. Also the Robert Graves Co.'s line of Decoration Paper of all kinds.

The Graves line took first prize in competition at St. Louis against the world.



A Paper's "Tooth"
is the trade name, which is used to indicate the slight roughness of the surface, which to some extent retards the sliding of the pen upon the page.
On paper that is too smooth the pen runs away, and the writing surface is not satisfactory.

Eaton's Highland Linen
has just the right amount of "tooth." The pen glides easily but not too rapidly. Many styles of hand-writing appear to best advantage on this paper.

OUR SERIAL

The Mystery OF Carney-Croft

By JOSEPH BROWN COOKE

(Copyright, 1907, by Story-Press Corporation.)

CHAPTER XXVI.—Continued.

"Mother helped take care of Mr. Carney, sir, and washed his things and the bandages he used, and when we had to go to the cellar to stay as we did when you came, fearin' as you might see us at the house, Mr. Jenks would get the things for her when we'd leave 'm in the path. We always had enough to eat stored away for such times and we could get water from the river, but sometimes we had to send things to mother and so Mr. Jenks would take them. He didn't know we were here at all, sir, but he wants to marry mother, you know, and so he'd do whatever she told him, without asking any questions.

"Was it Jenks who told you when I cabled to Europe?" I asked. "You must have known of it very soon to have answered it so promptly."

"Yes, sir," replied Bobbs. "You see, sir, he's at the station every day, and ways is after he's been playing pranks. You see," he explained, "I had a key to the kitchen door and could get in and out as I pleased until you had the new locks put on."

"Bobbs," I said, raising from my seat, "I want to ask you one more question before you go. Do you remember the first note that you sent me? The one Chico brought when he climbed up the ivy into my window last summer?"

"Yes, sir," said Bobbs, briefly.

"Well, how did you happen to say what you did in that note?" I asked.

"Mr. Carney told me to say it, of course, sir," replied Bobbs.

"Do you know why he did so?" I continued.

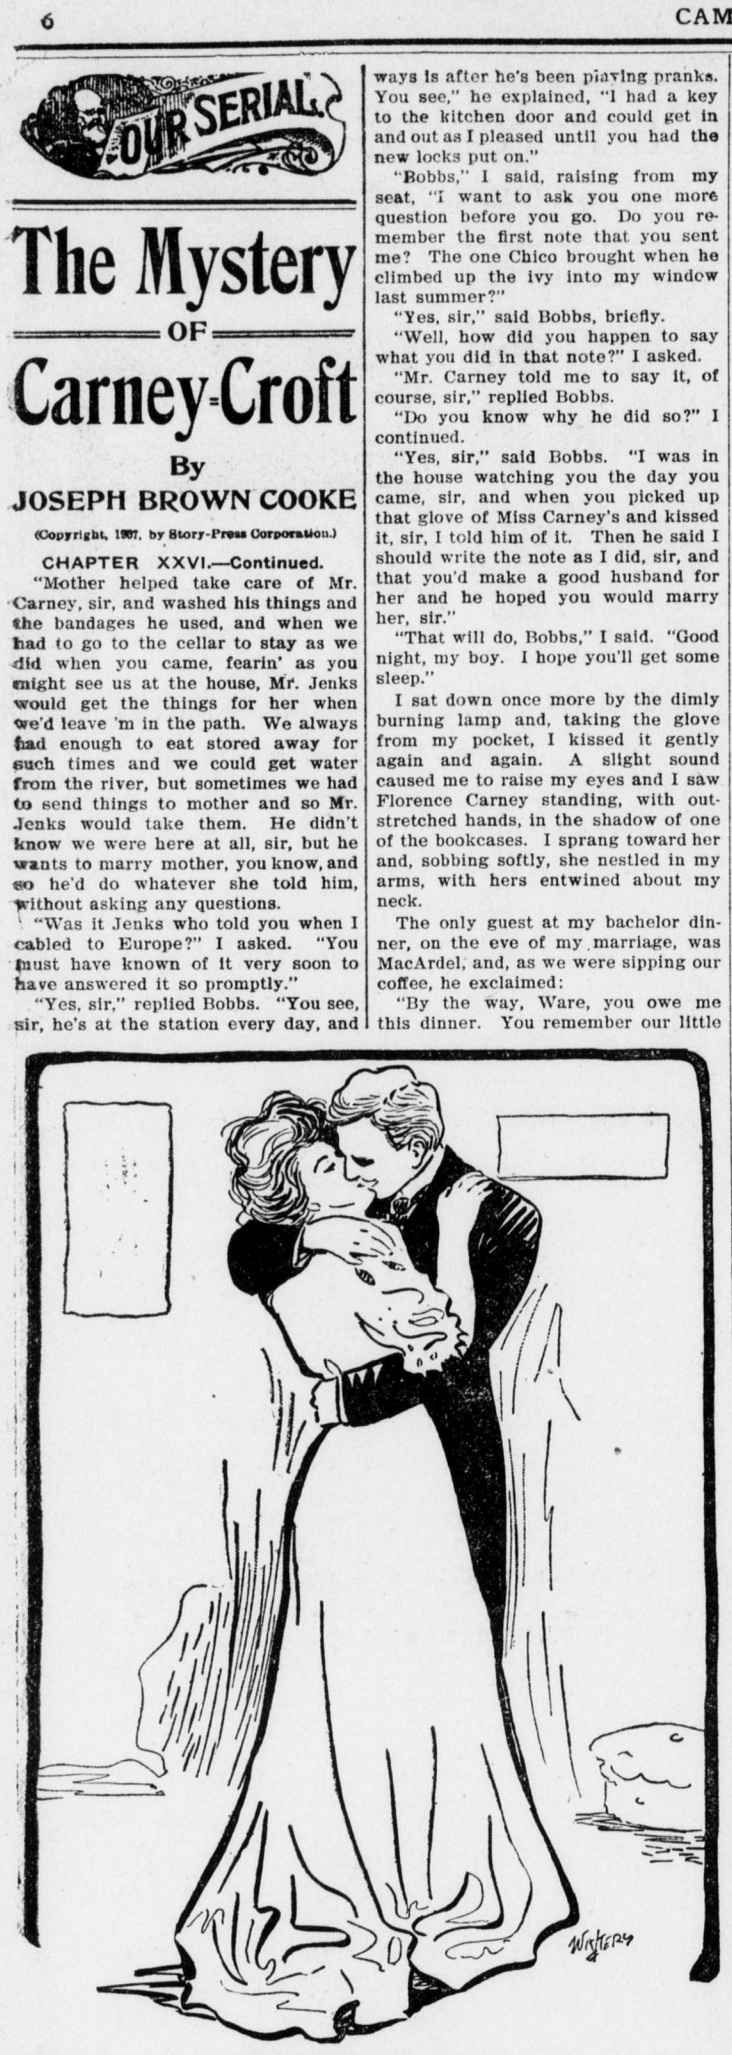
"Yes, sir," said Bobbs. "I was in the house watching you the day you came, sir, and when you picked up that glove of Miss Carney's and kissed it, sir, I told him of it. Then he said I should write the note as I did, sir, and that you'd make a good husband for her and he hoped you would marry her, sir."

"That will do, Bobbs," I said. "Good night, my boy. I hope you'll get some sleep."

I sat down once more by the dimly burning lamp and, taking the glove from my pocket, I kissed it gently again and again. A slight sound caused me to raise my eyes and I saw Florence Carney standing, with outstretched hands, in the shadow of one of the bookcases. I sprang toward her and, sobbing softly, she nestled in my arms, with hers entwined about my neck.

The only guest at my bachelor dinner, on the eve of my marriage, was MacArdel, and, as we were sipping our coffee, he exclaimed:

"By the way, Ware, you owe me this dinner. You remember our little



She Nestled in My Arms.

wager last summer, don't you?"

"I remember it very well, indeed," I replied with a smile, "but it hasn't been decided in full. You don't know it, old man, but I haven't proposed to her yet," and we tossed a coin for the bill.

THE END.

THREE BROTHERS, EACH MAYOR.

All Are Democrats and All Were Elected on the Same Day.

Muskogee, I. T.—The Watts family, of which W. J. Watts was the head in Indian territory, has a record that is without a parallel.

There are three Watts brothers, each of whom is mayor of the town in which he resides, all of them Democrats, and all were elected to the office of mayor on the same day.

W. J. Watts came to Indian territory in 1871, and established a home. He lived in the Cherokee Nation until 1901, when he died, leaving three sons. They are Jesse G. Watts, mayor of Saltisaw; Thomas J. Watts, mayor of Mulgrow, and Charles G. Watts, mayor of Wagoner. All three are lawyers.

W. J. Watts was prominent in the Indian politics of the Cherokee Nation, and made one of the greatest fights in the history of the nation for the establishment of certain rights of citizens of that jurisdiction. The elder of the sons, Jesse G. Watts, is a probable candidate for the Democratic congressional nomination from the Third district.

A Real Distinction.

A young matron of New York is the only one of her family who is not in "Who's Who," her father being a well known clergyman and her mother, brother and sister being more or less celebrated writers. One day her sister was condoling with her on her lack of distinction in this respect. "Never mind, Belle," said the literary sister; "you may not be in 'Who's Who,' but you're the only member of the family who is in the telephone book, and that costs real money."

ROAD AND FARM IMPROVEMENT

RUNNING THE GRINDSTONE.

Some Suggestions for Making a Hard Job Easy.

If the face of the grindstone is hard and glazed pour a little sand on the stone every few minutes until the glaze is worn off and the stone will cut like a new one. This condition is caused by exposing the stone to the weather. I like to keep the stone in a shed under cover, but if this is not possible set it under a tree and put a box over it when not in use. It is surprising how easy a little oil on the bearings will make the stone run, yet some of my neighbors never think to oil theirs. A few drops of kerosene will cut the gum if it runs hard and then some oil or axle grease will make it go easy.

It is hard to stand on one foot and work the treadle with the other. This job can be made easy, suggests a writer in Farm and Home, by bolting two boards to the grindstone frame, and extending it two feet, on which place a seat as shown in the cut. With a smooth and even face the grindstone works nicely, but when it becomes uneven it is hard work to do a good job of grinding. Such a stone needs to be cut down and toned up. This can be done by grinding against the end of a piece of pipe, having the stone dry. There is nothing more exasperating than to try to work with a poor grindstone, but with a good one it is a pleasure to keep the tools sharp.

HELPS THE ROADS.

Experience of the Specialist at Nebraska Experiment Station.

The following from a recent issue of the Nebraska Farmer gives their experience with the road drag on the roads near the Nebraska experiment station:

"A good proof of road dragging with split log drags was shown last winter during the long spell of deep muddy roads. The roads next to the farm have been dragged for the last four or five years, and comparing them with others it makes a very great contrast. While some of the other roads are hardly dry, and a good many are rough and rutty the dragged roads have long become smooth and are as hard as brick. Even during very muddy weather the depth of mud on the dragged roads was slight compared with that of the undragged roads. When a person drives over a road of this kind when muddy it is like driving on pavement with but one to two inches of mud while the unworked roads sink to a depth of nine inches in places and also very heavy pulling, having no solid ground under the mud. A farmer who believes it does not pay to drag roads is badly mistaken. In eastern Nebraska it is just beginning to become a practice. And the ones to introduce it there were the students of the school of agriculture."

FARM JOTTINGS.

Give the sheep shelter from the sun.

You can never improve a flock by using a grade sire.

Now is the time to select the best possible sire for the flock.

The superiority of beef breeds is largely in their early maturity.

Choose a thoroughbred of the breed that suits the fancy or surrounding conditions.

Well drained land will stand drought or freshet better than land that has not been drained.

Wethers intended for market should be put in a pasture by themselves, where they can be liberally fed.

When ewes are gaining in condition at mating time, there will be a large percentage of twins and the lambs will be stronger.

The feeding of cotton seed meal is not yet reduced to a science. Any man that undertakes it should avail himself of all extant information on the subject.

Cribbing.

Cribbing is a vice contracted by horses and hard to break. It may be restrained, says Farm Journal, by buckling a strap round the throat loosely enough to allow the horse to breathe readily; also by snapping the halter to a rod that will prevent the horse from getting his teeth on to anything to "suck wind."

Stringhalt.

Stringhalt is sometimes due to local injury. Closely observe the stable, change the stall, bathe the limbs in hot brine and attend to the shoeing. Your farrier may discover some fault in shoeing that may be remedied. A pronounced case can be corrected only by an operation.

DOES YOUR BACK ACHE?

Profit by the Experience of One Who Has Found Relief.

James R. Keeler, retired farmer, of Fenner St., Cazenovia, N. Y., says: "About fifteen years ago I suffered with my back and kidneys. I doctored and used many remedies without getting relief. Beginning with Doan's Kidney Pills, I found relief from the first box, and two boxes restored me to good, sound condition. My wife and many of my friends have used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results and I can earnestly recommend them."

JAMIE WASTED NO TIME.

Youthful Philosopher Had Carefully Thought Out Situation.

It was Jamie's bath night. He had several each week and he hated them all. On this particular night, once started, he soaked and splashed in the tub for a full half hour, then his mother haled him forth. He came out of the room in his pajamas with his face all streaked and dirty as it was when he went in.

"Mercy!" cried his mother. "I thought you took a bath."

"So I did!" answered Jamie scornfully. "A bully one!"

"But your face is black!" said his mother.

"Oh!" Jamie smiled understandingly. "My face is all right. I have to wash that in the morning, bath or no bath. You don't s'pose I'm going to waste time bathing my face! I always begin just below my ears and work down on my arms and legs; but I always leave my face and hands—those ends I 'tend to in the morning!"

Sure to Have One.

Lincoln Steffens, in an address on municipal politics, said in Chicago of a certain city:

"That city is as notorious for its rottenness as the town of Pebbles is notorious for another characteristic.

"Here is an incident that will give you an idea of the reputation of Pebbles.

"On a train one day a man rushed into a car, held up his hand for attention, and shouted excitedly:

"'Anybody here who belongs to Pebbles?'

"'Aye; I do,' said a small, dry old fellow calmly.

"'Then,' said the other, 'lend us yer corkscrew.'"

Born, Not Worn.

Little Margaret's grandmother had written for a photograph of her namesake, the "baby." For material reasons it was advisable that the little girl should appear as well dressed as possible, and a cousin's new open-work dress was borrowed for the occasion. On being arrayed for the picture Margaret rushed to her father, crying:

"Oh, father, just look! These ain't worn holes; they is born holes."—Harper's.

Evil of Tipping System.

Although there is a great effort made to keep secret the thefts in hotels and restaurants in New York, it is quite evident they are on a rapid increase. The manager of a large restaurant says the system of having servants depend almost entirely upon patrons for their pay lowers their moral standard and causes them to look on those they are supposed to serve as their legitimate prey.

Girls Destined for Harems.

The Circassians, who live in the northwestern part of the Caucasus, and who think it is more honorable to live by plunder than by industry, make it a custom to bring their daughters up to be sold as slaves to the Turks and Persians. Circassian beauties, therefore, shine not in their native land but in the harems of the orient.

FEET OUT.

She Had Curious Habits.

When a person has to keep the feet out from under cover during the coldest nights in winter because of the heat and prickly sensation, it is time that coffee, which causes the trouble, be left off.

There is no end to the nervous conditions that coffee will produce. It shows in one way in one person and in another way in another. In this case the lady lived in S. Dak. She says:

"I have had to lie awake half the night with my feet and limbs out of the bed on the coldest nights, and felt afraid to sleep for fear of catching cold. I had been troubled for years with twitching and jerking of the lower limbs, and for most of the time I have been unable to go to church or to lectures because of that awful feeling that I must keep on the move.

"When it was brought to my attention that coffee caused so many nervous diseases, I concluded to drop coffee and take Postum Food Coffee to see if my trouble was caused by coffee drinking.

"I only drank one cup of coffee for breakfast but that was enough to do the business for me. When I quit it my troubles disappeared in an almost miraculous way. Now I have no more of the jerking and twitching and can sleep with any amount of bedding over me and sleep all night, in sound, peaceful rest.

"Postum Food Coffee is absolutely worth its weight in gold to me." "There's a Reason." Read the little health classic, "The Road to Wellville," in pk

GIFT NOT ALL A GIFT.

Generosity That Was Purely the Result of Accident.

A missionary bishop told this story about F. Marion Crawford, the famous novelist:

"Mr. Crawford went to school," he said, "in Concord, and one day he was taken to call at a Concord clergyman's.

"The clergyman had a missionary box on his drawing room table, and, time hanging heavily on the boy's hands, he amused himself with trying whether a silver dollar—it was all the money he had in the world, and he had converted it into that gigantic coin for safety—would go into the slit in the box's top.

"It was a close fit, but unfortunately it did go, and the coin slipped out of the embryo author's fingers. There was a terrible crash of silver falling among the coppers—and then the boy, as the novelists say, 'knew no more.'

"When he came to himself he found the clergyman and his family in raptures over his generosity."

CHILDREN TORTURED.

Girl Had Running Sores from Eczema —Boy Tortured by Poison Oak— Both Cured by Cuticura.

"Last year, after having my little girl treated by a very prominent physician for an obstinate case of eczema, I resorted to the Cuticura Remedies, and was so well pleased with the almost instantaneous relief afforded that we discarded the physician's prescription and relied entirely on the Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Pills. When we commenced with the Cuticura Remedies her feet and limbs were covered with running sores. In about six weeks we had her completely well, and there has been no recurrence of the trouble.

"In July of this year a little boy in our family poisoned his hands and arms with poison oak, and in twenty-four hours his hands and arms were a mass of torturing sores. We used only the Cuticura Remedies, and in about three weeks his hands and arms healed up. Mrs. Lizzie Vincent Thomas, Fairmont, Walden's Ridge Tenn., Oct. 13, 1905."

Jerome on Colored Evidence.

District Attorney Jerome, of New York, said one day of a piece of suspicious evidence:

"It is evidence that has been tampered with, colored. It is like the lady's report of her physician's prescription.

"A lady one day in July visited her physician. The man examined her and said:

"'Madam, you are only a little run down. You need frequent baths and plenty of fresh air, and I advise you to dress in the coolest, most comfortable clothes—nothing stiff or formal.'

"When she got home her husband asked her what the physician had said. The lady replied:

"'He said I must go to the seashore, do plenty of automobiling, and get some new summer gowns.'"

Not Entire.

The aeronaut, after painfully extricating himself from the wrecked balloon, limped to the nearest farmhouse.

"Madam," he said to the woman who answered his knock, "can you accommodate with a night's lodging a balloonist who has come to grief?"

"I'd be glad to," she hesitated, "but you are an entire stranger to—"

"Not an entire one," he interrupted, with some acerbity. "For I have left my left ear, three teeth, and certain portions of my nose back there with the ruined car."

Colleges Undesirable Fire Risks.

Colleges are now regarded as rather undesirable insurance risks, and it is probable that the rate will be generally increased. In 18 years 784 fires have occurred in college buildings, entailing a loss of $10,500,000 in money and a heavy loss of life. This makes the average money loss over $13,000.

NOT THE TIME TO STOP.

Manager Saw the Possibilities in the Situation.

Jim Johnstone, the famous baseball umpire, said recently in New York that baseball crowds were far kinder to umpires than they used to be.

"This is true of theater crowds, too," said Mr. Johnstone. "Why, with provincial touring companies in the past, maltreatment was regularly expected. In fact, the companies profited by it in more ways than one.

"I know of a company that was playing 'The Broken Vow' in Paint Rock, a one night stand. The audience didn't like 'The Broken Vow,' and eggs, cabbages and potatoes rained upon the stage.

"Still the play went on. The hero raved through his endless speeches, dodging an onion or a baseball every other minute, and pretty sore from those missiles that he hadn't been able to dodge.

"But finally a gallery auditor in a paroxysm of rage and scorn hurled a heavy boot, and the actor, thoroughly alarmed, started to retreat.

"'Keep on playing, you fool,' hissed the manager from the wings, as he hooked in the boot with an umbrella. 'Keep on till we get the other one.'"

Where the Olympian Games Were Held

By Elizabeth B. Custer

From Athens to Olympia a long and Tedious Ride—Scene of Former Grandeur a Mass of Ruins—Wonderful Statue and Temple That Still Remain—Stadium Filled with Sand—Rural Scenes Apparently Unchanged During 2,000 Years—Few Penetrate Olympia's Solitudes, But the Trip is Well Worth While.

(Copyright, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

(Mrs. Elizabeth Bacon Custer, widow of the heroic Gen. George A. Custer, who was massacred, with his command, in the Black hills by the Sioux at the battle of the Little Big Horn in 1876, is well known as a vigorous writer. Her books, "Boots and Saddles," "Tenting on the Plains" and "Following the Guidon" have been widely read.)

One does not reach the original scene of the athletic games which made Greece so celebrated without some hardships and great taxing of patience. It is a long railway journey from Athens to Patras, but not uncomfortable. Then comes a night in a hotel that makes you shiver every time you think of it afterward. Next morning there is an early start on such a railroad! The one daily train stops at every vineyard and wine shop apparently and trails along so slowly that it takes one twice the time for the journey that is necessary. There never has been a town at Olympia. It was a district sacred to temples, altars, treasure houses, the palaces of kings and to the celebration of the games.

At the ruins at Delphi we had seen the only laurel tree left, where so many years before chaplets were woven to place on the brows of the winners of the games; so we knew that the laurel which is so rare now in Greece grew then under the patient care of those who had dedicated its leaves to the conqueror.

Temple of Lysicrates.

The ruins of Olympia are far more accessible than those at Delphi, Mycenae or Epidaurus, for we escaped the steep climbs. The sacred precincts were in the valley of the River Alpheios, and though it is far from our ideas of what a river should be it still is a grateful sight to have a stream in the vicinity of any of the great ruins of Greece.

Of course, before going to trace our way through the labyrinth of marble and rock we stopped at the museum to see the Hermes. The world will have to make pilgrimages to this marvelous statue, for in all the excavations carried on by the different schools and archaeological societies from every country the Greeks now insist that the great "finds" must be left in the museums on the grounds, and so the large sums offered for the Hermes have no effect. It is to remain in the small isolated and unget-at-able corner of the world. The museum has accorded the statue a large space quite by itself, and the hush of the tourist, the silence in this alcove, is like that about the Sistine Madonna in the Dresden gallery. With the Madonna it is not alone reverence for art which seems to have been inspired, but for the woman and the mother; but before the Hermes one is silent from awe of what art has accomplished.

Of course we sought out the temple where the Hermes once stood. The base of the Hereaon, the oldest temple in Greece, had a row of pedestals on either side still left, where statues once stood. Pausanius described the very place of the Hermes between the carved columns.

Outside, on the wide walk leading to the stadium, there are many pedestals of the money given for fines when the rules of the games were broken, for these contests went on for 1,000 years and were of such importance that heralds were sent over the country to proclaim to turbulent and warlike Greece that she must pledge herself to peace while the competition lasted.

After three successes a portrait statue could be erected in the Altis by the victor. These date so far back that the first was wrought in wood. Some of these figures are now in the museum at Athens. There is an archaic stele of Ariston, the first Olympian runner, which gives some idea of the costume of the athlete and the development of the muscles. He is said to have run from the battle of Marathon to bring the news to the city and to have fallen dead at the portal of the temple of Theseion. The spear he carries was doubtless a trophy won by his prowess.

There is a beautiful little temple in the heart of Athens which I visited over and over again, because it had to do with the games. The victors exhibited their prizes in public places and between the sculptured columns of this temple there once stood the evidences of the conquests of young Greece. Imagine a whole street of such beautiful temples extending from the theater of Dionysos to the town, all holding the trophies of the triumphant competitors.

But Olympia soon lost its local celebrity in the days when the oracle of Delphi proclaimed the spot the favored one of all the many centers for games, and it was a national festival that brought people from all over the world.

Foot races, hurling the discus, wrestling and boxing were followed in time by chariot and horse races. In the conglomeration of debris we traced the foundations of the walls of the great buildings set aside for the accommodation of those entered for the contests.

But a small portion of the great stadium has been redeemed from the mass of sand in which the river buried all of Olympia by a change of its course.

The stadium, unlike that at Athens, which has one circular end, thus doubling the distance of the run, had 630 4-5 feet in a straight line. There were no tiers of seats such as we saw at the stadiums of Delphi, Epidauros and Athens, but the gentle slopes of the hills were sufficient for the spectators. You approach through a long walk once lined with statues. A little to the right of the entrance a portico extended almost the entire width of the sacred precincts. Under this roof the people strolled back and forth awaiting the call of the herald to the arena. In front of this marvelously beautiful portico sacrifices to propitiate the gods were burned on altars whose foundations are easily traced now. An archway on the left of the stadium was the entrance for the contestants. One arch is still standing and is far higher and larger than the photograph represents. Some of the walls of the long entrance remain, having resisted the pressure of the sand which settled there so long ago. After we had passed through this trench on the side of the hill we ascended the slope to sit down on the flower-crowned hill in the midst of the asphodels of the poets, near the low wall where the start was made.

The same birds that sung 2,000 years ago were singing the same songs; the blossoms were putting up the very same lovely faces to the cloudless sky above; a shepherd boy was piping the unaltered notes of his ancestors with the reeds of his simple instrument fashioned as of old; a woman in a field close by watched the herd, distaff in hand, and a farmer turned up furrows in the river valley near with a wooden plow of the clumsy make of archaic days.

The hand of a Greek maiden was once the prize competed for, and yet only one woman, the Eleian priestess, was allowed to view the sports within the guarded precinct. We almost felt as we sat picturing the entrance of the superb youths through the vaulted archway that a trumpet would sound, clearing the hill of the daring petticoats that had ventured to view the forbidden field.

Even the palm was handed to the victor by an emperor and not a woman. The prizes were only branches from the sacred olive tree.

Entrance to Stadium.

The whole scene unrolled itself to us as we sat looking over the ground where the anxious or triumphant heart beats of the contestants could almost be heard after all the centuries in the now solitary spot. It is difficult to imagine any scene on earth more spirited than when the name and country of each competing youth was called out and heralds announced them with the clarion notes of the trumpets.

And what a generous thought was it of the patriotic Greek to restore the stadium at Athens and make an object for the youth of to-day to undertake exactly the same games of the long ago!

It would have been even more an event of the centuries had Olympia been chosen, but its distance and isolation and the hardships to which the spectators would have been subjected were insurmountable obstacles. One must be an enthusiast or an archaeological scholar to visit Olympia as it now is.

But there are rewards awaiting every one who does penetrate to the isolated ruins. The interest is intense and no one need hesitate to go because one is not an archaeological, classical or historical scholar. Enough can be acquired through the guidebook and a little study at the museum before making the journeys to give a clear idea of those world-renowned centers of Greek scholars, artists and athletes.

Lying Somewhere.

Not sure where "the future control of the world lies," professor, but guess the fellow who knows it all lies anywhere between here and the Antipodes and back the other way.

HE HAD TO HAVE FRUIT.

Grapes Beyond His Purse, Boy Took Humble Substitute.

James Wilson, the secretary of agriculture, was discussing in Washington the aid which his department gives the American farmer. He pointed out the benefit that had been derived from the introduction of darum wheat, of the wheat-testing machine, and of the method of extracting potash from granite.

"In fact," said Mr. Wilson, smiling, "I believe that eventually our finest products will be cheap enough to be within the reach of all. Then the story of the boy and the hot-house grapes will be as dead and antiquated as the theater hat stories of the past.

"This boy—he was a bootblack—entered a grocer's store one day, and, pointing to some superb grapes, said:

"'Wot's the price o' them there, mister?'

"'One dollar a pound, my lad,' the clerk replied.

"A look of anguish passed over the boy's face, and he said, hastily:

"'Then give us a cent's worth o' carrots. I'm dead nuts on fruit.'"

PRESCRIPTIONS IN LATIN.

The Public Should Have Them Translated by the Druggists.

What virtue is there in the secrecy with which the doctor hedges about his profession?

"Professional etiquette" occupies a prominent place in the curriculum of every medical school, and when strictly analyzed "professional etiquette" seems to mean "doing what is best for the doctor, individually and collectively."

Among the things that "is best for the doctor" is the writing of his prescriptions in Latin, and thus keeping the public in ignorance not only of what it is taking for its ills, but forcing a call upon the doctor each time a prescription is needed.

In plain and unmistakable English the writing of prescriptions in Latin makes business for the doctors.

Let us say that you have the ague. You had it last year and the year before. Each time you have visited the doctor and he has prescribed for you—in Latin. You have never known what he has given you for the disease, and so each time you are forced to go to him again and give him an opportunity to repeat his prescription—in Latin, and his fee—in dollars.

If you ask the doctor why he uses Latin in writing his prescriptions, why he writes "aqua" when he means water, he will give you a technical dissertation on the purity of the Latin language, and the fact that all words are derived from it, etc. It will be a dissertation that you may not be able to answer, but it will hardly convince you.

It would be a good thing for the public to devise a little code of ethics of its own; ethics that will be "a good thing for the public individually and collectively."

Let us apply one of the rules of this code of ethics to you, the individual.

You call in the physician when you have the ague, the grippe, or any of the other ills to which human flesh is heir, and which you may have again some day. The doctor prescribes—in Latin, and you take this, to you, meaningless scribble to the druggist to have it compounded. Right here is where you come in, if you are wise. Say to the druggist that you want a translation of that prescription. It is your privilege to know what you are taking. While the doctor's code of ethics may not recognize this right it is yours just the same.

With the translated prescription in your possession you have two distinct advantages. You know what you are taking, and should you wish to call some other doctor at some time you will be able to tell him what drugs you have been putting into your system, and also if you should have the same disease again you can save yourself a visit to the doctor, and his fee, by taking this translated prescription to the druggist once more and having it refilled.

She Experimented.

A little girl of five was taken to church one Sunday, and listened with unexpected attention to the sermon, which graphically told the story of the stilling of the tempest on the Sea of Galilee, and how Christ walked on the waves. In the afternoon her mother missed her and began an anxious search of the house. As she neared the bathroom she heard sounds of splashing, and hurried to the door to behold a small, excited face peering over the rim of the big white tub, and to hear a small, excited voice exclaim: "Say, mamma, this walking on the water is quite a trick."

A Knock.

"Jimmy," said the father, "there's a rip in your bathing suit. Go and sew it up."

"But papa," growled the boy, "mother will sew it for me."

"Never mind. I want you to learn to sew yourself. For," said the father, "some day you will get married, and then you won't have any mother—you will only have a wife."

Why He Was Jolly.

Bidder met Kidder, and Kidder was just bubbling with good humor.

"What are you feeling so uncommon jolly over?" said Bidder.

"Why, my best girl went and got married yesterday," said Kidder, slapping Bidder on the back.

"Seems to me that's about the last thing for a chap to feel jolly over," said Bidder.

"What!" said Kidder. "It was me she went and got married to!"

And so the cigars were on Bidder.—Browning's Magazine.

Great Discovery Announced.

The process is available for commercial, industrial and agricultural purposes, and is expected to revolutionize the nitrate industry and the world's food problem.

MOTHERHOOD

MRS. JAMES CHESTER

The first requisite of a good mother is good health, and the experience of maternity should not be approached without careful physical preparation, as a woman who is in good physical condition transmits to her children the blessings of a good constitution.

Preparation for healthy maternity is accomplished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from native roots and herbs, more successfully than by any other medicine because it gives tone and strength to the entire feminine organism, curing displacements, ulceration and inflammation, and the result is less suffering and more children healthy at birth. For more than thirty years has been the standby of American mothers in preparing for childbirth.

Note what Mrs. James Chester, of 427 W. 35th St., New York says in this letter:—Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—"I wish every expectant mother knew about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. A neighbor who had learned of its great value at this trying period of a woman's life urged me to try it and I did so, and I cannot say enough in regard to the good it did me. I recovered quickly and am in the best of health now."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is certainly a successful remedy for the peculiar weaknesses and ailments of women.

It has cured almost every form of Female Complaints, Dragging Sensations, Weak Back, Falling and Displacements, Inflammation, Ulcerations and Organic Diseases of Women and is invaluable in preparing for Childbirth and during the Change of Life.

Time to Fly.

The trust magnate leaped up from the banquet table and made a dive for his 100-mile-an-hour automobile.

"Hold on!" cried the astonished toastmaster. "Won't you wait for us to serve the dessert?"

"No," replied the nervous magnate; "I just saw a suspicious face loom up at the window. The next thing served will be a process."

And telling his chauffeur to put on full speed the wealthy fugitive headed for the next state.

Physicians Recommend Castoria

CASTORIA has met with pronounced favor on the part of physicians, pharmaceutical societies and medical authorities. It is used by physicians with results most gratifying. The extended use of Castoria is unquestionably the result of three facts: First—The indisputable evidence that it is harmless: Second—That it not only allays stomach pains and quiets the nerves, but assimilates the food: Third—It is an agreeable and perfect substitute for Castor Oil. It is absolutely safe. It does not contain any Opium, Morphine, or other narcotic and does not stupefy. It is unlike Soothing Syrups, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, etc. This is a good deal for a Medical Journal to say. Our duty, however, is to expose danger and record the means of advancing health. The day for poisoning innocent children through greed or ignorance ought to end. To our knowledge, Castoria is a remedy which produces composure and health, by regulating the system—not by stupefying it—and our readers are entitled to the information.—Hall's Journal of Health.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. B. Halstead Scott, of Chicago, Ills., says: "I have prescribed your Castoria often for infants during my practice, and find it very satisfactory."

Dr. William Belmont, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "Your Castoria stands first in its class. In my thirty years of practice I can say I never have found anything that so filled the place."

Dr. J. H. Taft, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I have used your Castoria and found it an excellent remedy in my household and private practice for many years. The formula is excellent."

Dr. R. J. Hamlen, of Detroit, Mich., says: "I prescribe your Castoria extensively, as I have never found anything to equal it for children's troubles. I am aware that there are imitations in the field, but I always see that my patients get Fletcher's."

Dr. Wm. J McCrann, of Omaha, Neb., says: "As the father of thirteen children I certainly know something about your great medicine, and aside from my own family experience I have in my years of practice found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy in almost every home."

Dr. J. R. Clausen, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "The name that your Castoria has made for itself in the tens of thousands of homes blessed by the presence of children, scarcely needs to be supplemented by the endorsement of the medical profession, but I, for one, most heartily endorse it and believe it an excellent remedy."

Dr. R. M. Ward, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Physicians generally do not prescribe proprietary preparations, but in the case of Castoria my experience, like that of many other physicians, has taught me to make an exception. I prescribe your Castoria in my practice because I have found it to be a thoroughly reliable remedy for children's complaints. Any physician who has raised a family, as I have, will join me in heartiest recommendation of Castoria."

Wm. Nelson, Clyde Collins, William Ray Smith, Selburne Logue and Walter Logue took in the excursion to Portage Falls Sunday. All report a fine time.

Sunday school at the Huntley church Sunday was well attended.

Henry and Thomas Hill were business callers in town Saturday.

A. W. Smith has sold his truck patch to G. W. Starr who will replant it with turnips and winter radishes. He can be seen almost any evening after working hours attending to his garden and it is safe to predict that he will succeed.

Wesley Barr and Charles Taylor, of Tunnel Hill, are busy men these days getting their fruits and vegetables ready for the County Fair. We understand that they dug three bushels out of eighteen hills and then left the small ones for the cattle. That looks like going some on potatoes.

Our old friend Irvin Parks has come to Tunnel Hill to do a few days sawing for D. W. Eastman during the absence of the regular sawyer. He is as jolly and fat as ever and we wish he could remain longer with us, he has a regular position with the same firm at Coudersport.

B. J. Collins is building a retaining wall near his residence in order to save the water cutting into the bank of the island at that point. This proceeding will eventually increase the size of the island and make it suitable for cultivation. "By the way" we understand that he had quite an exciting time the other day trying to capture a big eel in the creek but it escaped after all. However on the same day Operator Getchell secured a large one near the bridge and it is now in the spring. He has promised to present it to W. H. Smith, T. N., provided he came back from Portage Falls safely.

Owing to delay in the mailing our correspondence from Cameren and Huntley arrived at the PRESS office too late to appear in last weeks issue but as this is the exception and not the rule we hope to be excused.

Darius Ives has returned from West Virginia where he took a car load of horses for Hon. G. W. Huntley. Darius returned by the way of Cleveland, Ohio, where he purchased a large consignment of onion seeds for Jordan and Smith.

Irvin Parks paid his old friends a farewell visit Saturday evening and after some little persuading consented to sing us the following song accompanied by L. H. Smith on the violin, entitled, "The Greatest Game of All."

There's many games which we can play;
Our base ball, it is great,
While foot ball, polo and la-crosse,
Are strictly up-to-date.
And though we all enjoy these sports,
For them our ardor tames;
We must forget them when we play,
The Greatest Game of All.

This game we play from childhood time,
Until we reach the grave;
With some the score runs very high,
While some are doomed to slave,
To even get the scanty bite,
Their feeble breaths to claim,
Bnt all are striving hard to play,
The greatest Game of All.

Some play the game in ease and wealth,
With ne'er a thought or care,
For "Fortune" lavishes her smiles,
Upon them everywhere;
But others toil from day to day,
In sorrow and in pain,
An endless struggle 'tis for them,
This Greatest Game of All.

And year by year the game goes on,
Some by the wayside fall,
Some play the game unto the end,
Before the "umpire" calls,
And when on earth the game is closed,
Our standing will be named,
By Him who knows our every play,
In the Greatest Game of All.

Weak Women

To weak and ailing women, there is at least one way to help. But with that way, two treatments, must be combined. One is local, one is constitutional, but both are important, both essential.

Dr. Shoop's Night Cure is the Local.
Dr. Shoop's Restorative, the Constitutional.

The former—Dr. Shoop's Night Cure—is a topical mucous membrane suppository remedy, while Dr. Shoop's Restorative is wholly an internal treatment. The Restorative reaches throughout the entire system, seeking the repair of all nerve, all tissue, and all blood ailments.

The "Night Cure", as its name implies, does its work while you sleep. It soothes sore and inflamed mucous surfaces, heals local weaknesses and discharges, while the Restorative, eases nervous excitement, gives renewed vigor and ambition, builds up wasted tissues, bringing about renewed strength, vigor, and energy. Take Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—as a general tonic to the system. For positive local help, use as well
